USODA and the US National Team are pleased to announce a partnership with Vakaros.

Vakaros entered the sailing market in 2018 with the goal of creating superior instruments across a wide range of classes. Vakaros has dedicated team of engineers, sailors and problem solvers who love making sure sailors get the best experience possible on the water. Their innovative technology makes sailing smarter, faster, fairer and more exciting.

The US National Team and Vakaros will team together to give our sailors the performance data they need to sail faster than ever before.
