Commodore's Comment

Chrissy and I have celebrated another one of the children graduating from the UW. Our family traditions cycle on, just as the Lake Beulah family traditions march on. Another start of the summer brings on our club "graduations." Our children move from Opti's into the Cub fleet, our Youth's move into the C fleet, the C fleeters graduate into the MC fleet, and some of our kids move onto the National stage. We learn from the many great role models who came before us as we serve in the various roles at the club allowing us to uphold the standards set before us and respect the traditions we all cherish. We must change and adapt with times, but always keeping our core principles of volunteerism, fellowship, and sportsmanship. During this exciting transition from spring to summer, there are a few day to day changes to be aware of. Molly wrote about small changes to help social committees, and our Chase Boat scheduling is also changing. If you are the only person listed on the Chase boat time, don't go out alone - ask an able bodied friend or neighbor to go with you to shepherd our fleets. Let's continue to watch cover one another and have a happy & fun summer.

FROM THE SAILING COMMODORE

The first weekend of racing is under our belts, and we had quite the variety of conditions out there. Saturday's three short races were light air, and Sunday's two short races were medium to windy. Please let your fleet captains know your opinions about the new format so we know whether or not to continue this for next year. It has been suggested that the races would get off more quickly if the MCs started first. Thought being that with races this short, the Cs wouldn't catch the MCs, and the races would finish much closer together. See what you think and let your fleet captains know.

The windy races on Sunday highlighted what I believe to be a bad habit we have gotten into. We had the requisite safety boat out there, with my husband aboard. An MC turtled at the first windward mark, and David was there immediately. The problem was, one boat cannot right a turtled MC, and the time spent was time NOT spent helping others. Jeff and Bill Hudson, Randy Schmidt, and Jim Kutschenreuter all helped with either that MC or the two C boats that later tipped. HUGE thanks to them! But the safety boat not only righted the MC, but also towed him home. David was unavailable for a total of more than 30 minutes because of one boat. And this kind of situation happens. So here's my reminder: Please come out to watch your loved ones. Even if you can't physically right their boat, you can tow them home. Also, if you're out there, please don't assume that the safety boat is available to help anyone who tips over. If you're able, please help right any tipped over boats you see.

If I had to pick two C Boats least likely to tip over, David Porter and Jay Hiller would be at or near the top of that list. Shows you how much I know! Both of them were the two swimmers in the C Fleet in the second race!

Here's a reminder to safety boat drivers to please check the level of the tubes in the inflatable boat. They should be firm before you take off onto the water. It's very easy and quick to re-inflate them, and is vitally important. Under-inflated tubes cause wear and leaks to the tubes, and they have been patched so many times, that we're running out of life span! There is a foot pump under the seat that you can attach to the tube and pump until firm. I've done it, and it took less than 5 minutes to get everything all pumped up. Thanks!

Ok, time for calendar talk. This coming Friday is the annual fleet meetings.

MCs start off the evening with their meeting at 6:30. Be prepared for lively discussions, and please bring $10 each to finance the dinner for the judging volunteers that will be next weekend. Next come the youth fleets: X, Opti, and Laser, at 7:30. Finally, the C Boat sailors will meet at 8:30. C sailors, please bring $20 per boat to finance the aforementioned dinner.

Two weeks from now is the Judges' seminar and dinner. Al Haeger and I are working on putting together a few presentations for all positions on the race committee, and there will be the infamous Judges' Pasta served. Don't miss it!

Let's go sailing!

First Wed Cookout May 27th

Pancake Breakfast June 6th

The summer season at LBYC starts tomorrow night with the Opening Party. I hope that everyone is planning on attending to enjoy the buffet provided by Saz's.

The first cookout is on Wednesday, May 27th with Wendy and Dave Bitter and committee serving up a delicious meal. June will also bring a party at the club on the 20th. More details to follow.

Bar prices will remain the same this year. Jeff Lippert has ordered some new red wines so please give them a try and let us know what you think.

Please continue to let me know if you trade your volunteer assignment.

Introducing the LBYC Racing Forum

Share Comments, Questions, and Tips with Beulah Sailors

Beulah is fortunate to have vibrant, competitive racing, with a great blend of top-performing sailors and newer sailors anxious to improve. The LBYC Racing Forum will use the experience of our sailing community to make LBYC racing even more competitive for sailors of all levels.

What?

Located on the LBYC website, the forum is a collection of comments, questions/responses and observations about C and MC racing on Beulah. A moderator will keep the forum fresh by posting weekend race results and soliciting comments and observations from race winners and "sage observers." Sailors can comment and ask questions about the weekend's racing, tuning, rules, boat handling, or any other topics suitable for public viewing. We started off the forum with a thread about the Andy Burdick session at the club on May 6, including comments and links to videos of the session.

Who?

We have enrolled all C and MC sailors as forum members. We didn't want to annoy anyone that hates emails, so we have initially set your forum preferences for online reading only. If you want to receive daily emails announcing or summarizing any new posts, see the "How Do I ..." section below.

Where?

You must be logged in to the LBYC website as a member to access the forum. Once logged in, click on the left menu item for Forums. If you don't know how to log in to the website, click on "member login" and follow the instructions to get your user name and password.

How Do I ...

read the current forum threads (topics)? From the forums page, click on the title, "LBYC Racing Forum." Then click on the title of the thread you want to read.

reply to a thread or ask a question on a thread? To reply or ask a question, open the thread and click "reply" next to one of the messages. Type in your text and click "post message" at the bottom of the screen. Your responses will help drive the forum, so be generous with your comments and questions.

post a new thread? From the LBYC Racing Forum page, click on "start new thread."

receive email updates for new threads? From the LBYC Racing Forum page, click on "my forum preferences." Under the banner "message delivery," check the box that says "send forum messages to me via email." Then use the drop-down box labeled "frequency" to decide if you want either 1) immediate emails for new topics, 2) a daily digest email with the text of all posts, or 3) a daily digest email with subjects only. Then click "save" at the bottom of the screen

Lake Beulah Sailing School.....No experience required – all you need is a life jacket and a smile.

The more the merrier in 2015!

The Lake Beulah Sailing School has been teaching children and their parents to sail for countless summers, and 2015 will be more of the same fun! We have classes for the young (children ages 6-15) and the young-at-heart, and we figure the more the merrier. Youth classes start on Monday June 8th, and Adult Learn to Sail will be on Monday evenings starting then as well. In addition, we'll have one-week Learn to Sail for kids running the weeks of July 6th and August 3rd. More information can be found at www.lbssonline.org and all classes take place at the Lake Beulah Yacht Club on East Shore Road. Sailing is a great life-long sport that you'll be glad that you and your kids learned to partake of, so come and join the fun. OPEN HOUSE on Sunday, June 7th, at 4:30 at the LBYC so you can come meet the instructors and get your questions answered and see what it's all about.

It's Luffable

Bob Mueller was golfing in Florida this past April when his 4-some approached the green.

All of the guys saw Bob's ball roll into the sand trap. When Bob got to the trap, it wasn't there.....the ball was gone. Amazed, the 4 guys checked all around and didn't see it. Finally they looked up to see a huge black bird carrying it. The cocky raven tossed his head and dropped Bob's ball further from the green, in and among the trees!

C & MC Spring Regatta – May 9th – 10th by Joe Sko

There were 20 C scows up at Cedar, WI, along with a whole group of MCs as well, (note to the Beulah MC fleet for next year!) It all started with a clinic Friday afternoon with Andy Burdick from Melges getting everyone tuned up.

There were six short races on Saturday, on the C course, and additional races in the rain on Sunday. The 12 (Haeger/Greenson) and 23 (Bohl) and 217 (Joe Sko/Muller) teams took to the water, with Kent and Mike leading the way with a couple bullets Saturday. Andrew was close behind and the 217 had moments of brilliance.

In the final analysis, after three more cold and wet races Sunday, B12 was 2nd and B23 was 8th while B217 took Sunday off for Mother's Day and finished 12th.

A Special Thank You

The past 10 weeks has been about raising money for cancer research and my nomination for the Woman of the Year Award. I surpassed my goal of $50K by a lot. (final total still to be determined)

I am very excited to tell you some more news. I LOST the Woman of the Year award. This is a WONDERFUL thing!! That means, someone raised more than me. More money was raised that I had guessed for the WI Leukemia Lymphoma Society. Nearly $400K!!! Just think about the future patients this will benefit. (It gives me goose bumps thinking about this). What I am sad about, is that I did not get to thank everyone. The cancer team at Froedtert cured my husband, Kevin. My family would not be intact if it wasn't for the care that the Medical College of Wisconsin provided. I need to first thank Dr Carlson and Dr Hari for nominating me. And of course all my team members that helped me raise money. The WI Leukemia Lymphoma Society funds over 300 active research projects. All with the goal of pushing the cure further.

Cure is NOT free. It comes with a high price tag (both literally and figuratively). Cancer steals your sense of security and sometime hope. And when a loved one, friend, coworker or acquaintance dies - a little more of that security and hope disappears. This past 10 weeks we have raised $400K that will help fund research and give future patients that security and hope they deserve; and ultimately - a cure.

Thank you to all our friends at the LBYC.
