

turkey day dinner

The annual ABYC Turkey Day Dinner was a tad different this year. Being that the Upper Deck seats less than 200, large events either require two seating's or re-setting of tables as people eat and leave. Typically, the hungry Turkey Day Regatta sailors just eat and run. This makes re-setting tables an effective way to handle a big crowd. But, this year nobody ate and ran. It may have been because of how cozy the Upper Deck was with the fireplace lit and tables decorated with festive fall flowers, gourds and pumpkins. But, it was probably mainly due to a really scrumptious and beautifully presented traditional Thanksgiving Dinner prepared by Teak Catering. Of course, being served by Commodore Brown and present and past Officers Dave Schack, Steve Mueller, Chuck Clay and Dave Crockett was a rather nice touch too. And then there were the helpers who decorated, set the tables, re-set the tables, bused tables and cut a heck of a lot of delicious apple and pumpkin pies, and spooned out really exceptional peach cobbler... without the volunteer efforts of Lori Van Skyhock, Janet Lincoln, Candace Fisher, Diana Sanchez, Carla Higbee, Alan Cunningham, Trish Clay, Eileen Haubl, Karen Zieba, and Sam and Dana Bell events like this just won't be possible. So, thanks to all of you for your help!!!

manager's corner

Well folks, the Holiday season is here, and I'm going to keep it short and sweet this month. If you haven't made your reservation for the Club's annual Christmas Party, please be sure to do so soon! Our traditional, family-friendly party has something for everyone: crafts and photos with Santa for the little ones, a candy station for kids of all ages, open bar serving all of your holiday favorites, and a bountiful dinner followed by a Christmas carol sing-a-long with our own Ukulele elves. It's sure to be fun for all, so please make your reservation today!

Since this is my last article of the year, I'd like to take this time to wish everyone at ABYC a very merry Christmas, and a happy and healthy New Year! Here we come 2018!

commodore's compass

The holiday season is now upon us. ABYC just held its annual Thanksgiving Day Regatta. Thanks to the efforts of about 60 volunteers we hosted another amazing regatta. We were blessed by two days for almost perfect sailing weather. From what I heard the sailors really enjoyed themselves. I had several sailors and parents personally thank me for event. However, the credit really goes to the whole club!

Soon many of us will be celebrating either Christmas, Hanukkah, or another religious holiday. We spend time with family, reconnect with friends or volunteer to help those less fortunate. For me this is what is best about the holidays. If time permits please try to find a few minutes to spend with your ABYC family. The club offers three great opportunities between now and the end of the year; Christmas Tree Trimming on December 1st, the ABYC Christmas Party on December 17th, and Boxing Day on December 30th. Just a quick plug for Boxing Day. It is the perfect opportunity to get a head start on your New Year's Resolution of "doing more sailing next year."

I look forward to seeing many of you around the club during the holidays. If you decide to spend your time off with non-sailing friends or family instead, I understand. Just make sure you spend this precious time well!

vice verses

Thank you to all of those who volunteered for Turkey Day 2017. The regatta and dinner were a huge success. I received a lot of compliments about what a great job we all did.

I am truly thankful for all of our great volunteers.

rear view

Wow, What a great Turkey Day Regatta. Again, ABYC at its best. First, I would like to thank my Co-Chair David Schack for the outstanding effort me put into this event. Second, I would like to thank all the volunteers who make events like this possible. Thank you all. By the numbers, we had 189 sailors at the event and served 285 dinners. I hope you enjoyed the dinner as much as I did. A special thank you to Dana Bell and SAC for making the dining room look so nice.

Coming up please make your calendars for the ABYC Christmas party on December 17th. It is going to be a fun night with a very special guest. Hope to see you then.

Thank you again for your support.

Hope the Holidays are incredible for everyone!
There are some things planned for next year (2018) which are I have been asked about and should help us feel better about running regattas and getting volunteers.

The newer boats of interest to the younger generation are getting to a performance level which are starting to require our close attention. Sue and Dave Crockett have stepped up on the safety front and will be the lead in starting a program for the club. They have already appealed to some, with expertise, for helping out. If you think you can help with the program please contact them to see where you can fit in. We have already taken the first step in the right direction, with a mandatory meeting of all coaches and regatta personnel, the first day of each regatta, before we get on the water.

To continue the great sailing status we hold, there will be offerings of on the water training programs. Having mentioned to members about Whaler handling and Regatta assisting program, there are many interested parties, just need to find the weekends available for these. Training will help us get more qualified people out on the water making sure we remain at the forefront of Yacht Clubs that run great regattas for participants. Sailors, on numerous occasions, mentioned how enjoyable it is to sail out of our club because of the expertise of ABYC race committees. Let us keep up the tradition by making sure we have talent in the pipeline we can draw from.

First we'd like to officially welcome our latest burgee recipients Mike Corzine and Chris Cunningham who were presented their burgees at the November membership meeting by their sponsors Jim Lincoln and Dominic Meo respectively. The stories offered up by the sponsors during the presentation are always fun and interesting. We also want to present to you these candidates approved for membership this month. I'm certain they will be great additions to the membership.

There were also three Juniors who transitioned to Yachting status. They are: Sean Leddy, Wells Drayton, and John Horton.

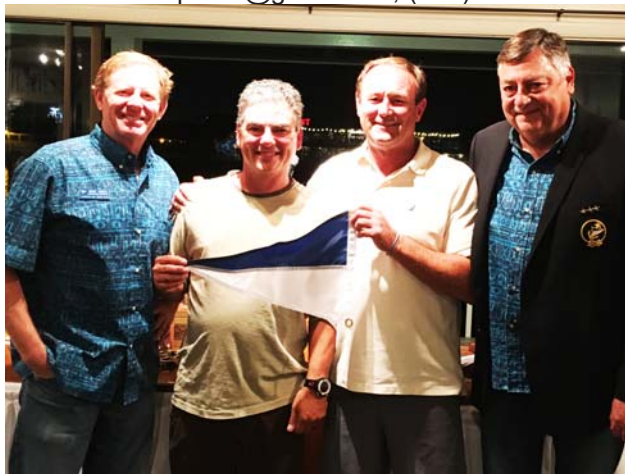

Overall there seems to be an upswing in membership interest which we will work hard to convert into new members. However, we all must do what we can to promote from within as well. With so many social and racing opportunities to be enjoyed, we can all do our part to spread the word about our wonderful facility to both fellow members who perhaps aren't as active, friends, and to prospective members. Sometimes it just takes a trip down to the club to be reminded of the truly amazing place we have and people who are the heart of it all.

Looking forward a bit, we have the new member appreciation party August 11th which will be a great opportunity to meet new members, as well as plenty of other social activities all of which we encourage everyone to make it down for. There is also a lot of work going into an adult learn-to-sail program that promises to bring another dimension to the diversity of the club. In particular, I believe this program will bring an entirely new perspective to membership and participation.

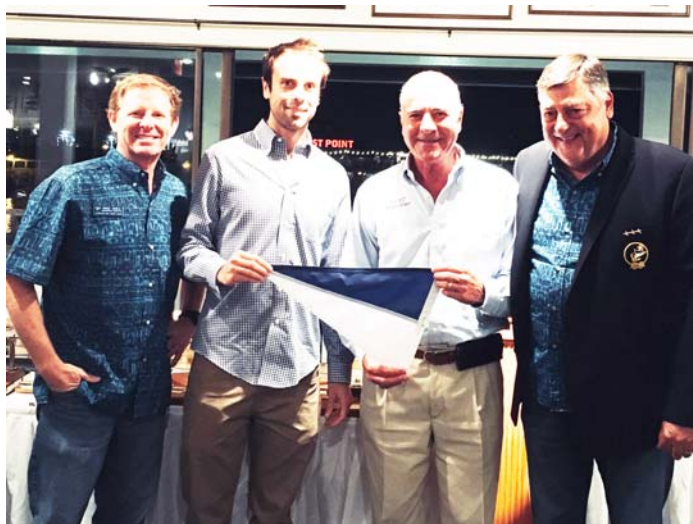

As always, please feel free to contact me with any prospective members, or for any membership questions or concerns.

Hope to see all of you around the club and on the water!

Halloween Regatta 2017

Light. Choppy. Weather that I hate the most. It's light so you don't go fast and the chop also slows you down which makes it SO FRUSTRATING. So anyway, the first got confused because everyone thought they were going to the far mark and we were supposed to be going to the close mark. The second race the wind dropped and we went slower than usual. The third race the wind picked up a little bit and we went a bit faster. Fourth race wind picked up more and we were going fast. After the fourth race Tate and I requested that we do another race and the race committee allowed it. That race the wind picked up more and we were going really fast. The first few races were bad and the last few were good in my opinion. Overall the regatta was pretty decent.

racing rules quiz #36

Yellow on starboard tack and Blue on port tack are both close-hauled course. Blue is crossing Yellow. At position 2, when the boats are less than two boat lengths apart, the wind shifts to the right. Yellow is lifted and Blue is headed.

Blue is no longer able to keep-clear and contact occurs that does not cause damage or injury.

How should the protest committee rule?

dinner by the bay

Lori Va Skyhock photos

The art of sailing and the art of winemaking actually have a lot in common. Like winemaking, sailing is fun, adventuresome and romantic. Like sailing, the art of winemaking demands the skill, discipline and determination of a group of people committed to the same goal.

Mr. Joe Czesnakowicz, representative of Dry Creek Vineyard (the official wine for sailors, which also features a sailboat on the label), explained the vineyard's history with the sport of sailing, and navigated us through six tastings that accompanied ABYC's Dinner by the Bay on Saturday, November 11. In 1977, the winery founder sponsored the first sailing team at Sonoma State University, and in 1982 the winery released its first wine with a sailboat on the label. In 1986, the winery sponsored the Tall Ship Californian and its Sea Cadet program, and from 1990-2005, Dry Creek Vineyard was the official sponsor of the Bitter End Pro-Am Regatta in the British Virgin Islands. In 2003, the vineyard was the official partner for Rolex Yachtsman of the Year, and from 2002-2009, the winery formed an official partnership with US SAILING, the national governing body of the sport. In 2013, Dry Creek Vineyard became the official supplier of Artemis Racing-Challenger 34th America's Cup.

Now, for the mouth-watering details. Accompanied by a three-piece jazz ensemble, the first course featured a salad of herbs, baby greens, shaved ham and parmesan with aged balsamic vinaigrette and Ravioli de champignons de bois-wasabi mashed potatoes, accompanied by a 2016 Dry Chenin Blanc - Clarksburg. The second course featured Chilean Seabass, kaffir lime beurre blanc, basil leave chiffonade, and tomato confit with bay shrimp, accompanied by a 2015 "Estate Block 10" Chardonnay – Russian River Valley. After cleansing the palette with Lychee sorbet, the third course featured Filet Mignon au pauvre, accompanied by a 2013 "The Mariner" Meritage – Dry Creek Valley. The Epilogue was a Tarte Tartin, cinnamon sorbet with a 2014 Old Vine Zinfandel – Dry Creek Valley.

A toast to Steve Mueller for orchestrating this sold-out event. And a toast to all the volunteers who helped with the decorating and set-up for this fabulous event, including Dana Bell, Lori Van Skyhock, Trish Clay, Jared Shoultz, Carla Higbee and Janet Lincoln. Any time I see a Dry Creek label on a restaurant's wine list, I will choose it, both because I know it will be a great wine, and because of Dry Creek's investment and commitment to the sport of sailing.

B RUCE GOLISON DRIVEN TO BE THE BEST SKIPPER IN THE WORLD

Bruce Golison, member of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club for about 40 years, has a passion for competitive sailing and a strong desire to be the best in the world.

He just recently returned from the J/70 North American Championship on the East Coast, happy to have placed in the top three after having only raced in the class for less than two years.

"I love sailing in very competitive classes. That's why we are in the J/70 class," Golison told The Log. "Right now, it's a big class and a big fleet."

Bruce Golison skippered his boat, Midlife Crisis, along with crewmembers Peter Kinney, Erik Shampain and Steve Hunt; they placed third among a fleet of 53.

He has sailed into first place at other East Coast and West Coast competitions.

Golison was the winning skipper in his class in the NOOD Regatta in Annapolis, Maryland earlier this year and overall in San Diego last year.

He qualified for the 2016 NOOD Championship Regatta in the British Virgin Islands, but said he was not able to compete due to scheduling conflicts.

"Probably the two things that drive me are I've never gone to the Olympics, and I've never won a World Championship," Golison stated. "I'll never go to the Olympics, but the World Championship is still high on my bucket list."

Golison said he was born into sailing and started at a young age with Sabots.

"My father had a very strong passion for sailing," Golison said. "He was the one person who gave me the love of sailing and the love of the sea."

His first sailing lessons were with Seal Beach Yacht Club. He then became a member of Leeway Sailing Club in Long Beach at the age of nine.

"Leeway Sailing Club was probably one of the biggest sailing [clubs] in the country. They had a membership of about 1,200 kids every year. That was a great place to learn to sail and race," Golison stated.

Golison said he always wanted to be out on the water sailing and racing as a kid.

"I'd just take my Sabot out and race even by myself. I'd just go out and pretend I was racing," Golison relayed. "I never got tired of it."

Golison credits not only his father for where he is in his sailing career today but also his bosses at North Sails, who, he said, were all Olympic medalists as well as businessmen at the time.

He worked for North Sails San Diego as a senior in high school and throughout college, where his senior management team of Dick Deaver, Lowell North, John Marshall and Peter Barrett encouraged him to do well in school and pursue top grades in his education.

"I had to show them my grades more than I ever did to my parents," Golison said.

Golison shared an amusing story about sailing in a regatta with one of his bosses from North Sails.

"We literally sailed between a tugboat coming out of San Diego [and] two fully loaded barges," Golison stated. "The tugboat slammed into reverse and dropped the cables, and we sailed on through. That was probably the craziest and stupidest thing I've ever done."

"At 22, you do what your bosses tell you to do," Golison added.

Today, Golison keeps his J/70 on the East Coast to race and has his Lido in Long Beach for local competitions.

His wife came up with the name of their boat, Midlife Crisis.

People are beginning to tell him the name is no longer appropriate as the years go by, but Golison just responds by saying "I'm still in my midlife crisis."

He and his wife laugh about the name when Golison says the money and time is better spent on the boat than a red Ferrari or a girlfriend.

Golison expressed his appreciation for having a partner in life, his wife of 35 years, who enjoys traveling for the sport of sailing.

Golison may be taking a break but not for long. He has a full schedule ahead of him as he plans to sail the Lido in Long Beach for the next couple months before more practices and competitions in the J/70 class.

"Our J/70 program starts ramping up in February," Golison mentioned. "We are going to work hard towards the World Championships in September in Marblehead, Massachusetts."

He plans to charter a J/70 boat for Long Beach Race Week as part of his training for the World Championships next year.

He is motivated to keep competing at the age of 61, but admits he is worried.

"You just never realize or know how long you can stay competitive," Golison confessed.

Golison said he was having a conversation with another sailor at the North American competition. They were discussing how long they have been competing. Golison told the other sailor he won his first trophy at a regatta in 1967, when the guy looked at him and said, "I wasn't born until 1989."

Golison, still obviously determined and motivated, said sailing is what keeps him young.

margaret caddle

SCYA HONORS MARGARET CADDLE WITH BLOOM AWARD

The Southern California Yachting Association's Mort Bloom Award has been awarded to Margaret Caddle. This is an annual award presented to judges, umpires and race officers for outstanding service to the sport of sailing.

Margaret began sailing and racing dinghies and keelboats as both skipper and crew in the late 1930s. She became interested in the rules governing the racing, and started serving as a judge on protest committees in 1988. She was appointed a judge by USYRU in 1991 and appointed to Senior Judge when first issued in 1994.

She also became involved in umpiring; having umpired many regattas starting in the mid 1990s. She was appointed a US Sailing Umpire in 1998 to become the first female certified umpire on the west coast and held that distinction for many years. She served twenty years as Chief Judge at ABYC (2 years as co-chief), and she was the Area J representative for U.S. Women's Championship for several years.

SCYA has recognized her many years of distinguished service in the past by awarding her the Peggy Slater Memorial Trophy and now the Mort Bloom Award. This award will be presented at the annual installation dinner on January 13, 2018 at Del Rey YC.

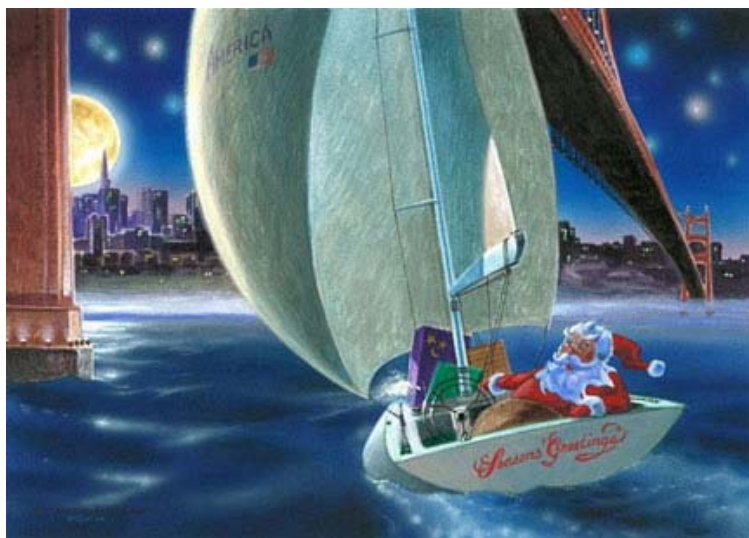

The Southern California Yachting Association represents 88 yachts clubs. Past winners have included 2016 Kim Kymlicka DWYC, 2017 Don Becker BYC, 2014 Jim Mahafy BYC, 2013 Mark Townsend ABYC and 2012 Kirk Brown LBYC.

Happy Holiday's ABYC Sailors from the Cal 20 Fleet

Cal 20's have been enjoying our Fall sailing season with the recent Halloween and Turkey Day regattas hosted by ABYC. The Ives brothers (Jeff and Keith) have been sailing well having won the Halloween and Turkey Day regattas respectively. John Merchant sailing with his regular crew Rob Fuller sailed well at the Halloween Regatta as well coming in second just one point behind Jeff Ives. At the Turkey Day Regatta, Keith Ives and Chuck Stevens continued their winning ways following their big win at the CBYC Class Champs in September. Keith and Chuck are incredibly consistent and fast on all points of sail. Stu Robertson (MBYC) with crew Scott Atwood (ABYC) sailed well to a second place finish with the son and father team of Mike and Ron Wood sailing to a third place finish at Turkey Day. Other ABYC Cal 20's seen at these regattas include the Kuritz family, Jerry Montgomery sailing with Dave Kofahl, and Cathy Black-Smith and crew Todd.

We have three upcoming Cal 20 events for December to finish off the year. Our annual Holiday party will be on Friday, Dec. 8 at a private residence on the peninsula. Per our custom, this is a BYOB affair with the fleet sponsoring a catered dinner. We also ask that sailors bring an unwrapped toy for local Long Beach kids. The next day will feature the Long Beach Yacht Club hosted Fun Run which is sailed inside Alamitos Bay at the turning basin. This event consistently draws 10 - 15 Cal 20's for close knit tactical racing. And we will close out the season with the Boxing Day Regatta on Dec. 30. Cal 20's have done well at this pursuit race in recent years with several top 10 finishes.

Best wishes to all our ABYC sailors this holiday season!

Lido de Luna Recap

This year's event was a fun day on the water sailing the bay in the Pirate treasure hunt for clues.

Windy conditions made sailing exciting with 4 to 6 persons per boat. While searching for treasures some Lidos crashed a wedding party at the LBYC guest dock while sleeping Lido Pirates found their Lido had been hijacked and tied up to another dock. You never know what will happen with Fleet 6 under a Lido de Luna full moon, but this year it included a marriage proposal! Congratulations to Deby St. John and Jack Johnson on your engagement.

Thank you John Gresham and Christina Hall for organizing this event and to Dana and Sam Bell for preparing the dinner.
