This is it, this is now, this is what I've been talking about

Each club should plan to send someone to the Judges Seminar. Arbitration rather than protest was employed numerous times at last year's events. Does your club know how to use arbitration, the documents and words used, how to include in SI's? Bruce Martinson makes this so interactive. Get your questions answered but also get your club up to speed with current practice at regattas.

This is also a chance to coordinate with other clubs. Do you need an impartial protest committee? Make your connection at this course to provide reciprocity to and with other clubs. In the 2018 season, Beulah, Delavan and Geneva frequently used each other to handle protests. The secret was holding the protests at 5:00PM. It gave all sailors/jurors the opportunity to sail homelake races and yet assist other clubs. Give this some thought. Adopt a sister club to share your jury resources.

As you plan your local regatta (and there are a plethora in the X boat), remember to include jury members AHEAD of the event. It's another volunteer opportunity so remember to include lunch or dinner accommodations and a big THANK YOU for those who serve our regattas.

Midwinters may be over but the race north between Jim Gluek (North Sails Zenda) and Mike Considine (UK Sailmakers Chicago) is turning out to be quite the battle through Nashville. Both are trailering champions so it will come down who can anticipate the traffic shifts the best. We will report updates as they come in..

- Dan Fink (MADSAILS) got a bad start (Waffle House) but is making way up the course.
- Fink is very skilled in heavy traffic. He loves to bang the corners as he showed last night taking the 485 bypass around Atlanta at 9 PM because he didn't want his rig to get clipped by a chopper (Atlanta drivers) in the middle of the course.
- Bill Draheim (Quantum Sails) is scored a DNC (not leaving Florida) but doesn't need the points because he just won Midwinters along with the 2018 MCSA National Championship.
- I am with Gluek. He has inside position.
- Is this a windward/leeward or overtaking situation
- Willie's been home since this am in NJ
- The Lake Beulah, WI crowd arrived at 10 am on Sunday. Too bad about the Squad Car. This might be the best time for a 1250 mile trip with a double trailer.
- Ronnie Hull - Am I first one home???

Post 2

For Immediate Release:

Update with the permission of the MCSA Commodore, Dan Fink about the MCSA Race to the North:

Dan Fink (MADSAILS) is being scored a DNF. The Squadcar has died with 134 miles left to go. A tow is in the works. Hopefully he'll be able to fix it before the MCSA Masters because it just wouldn't be a sanctioned regatta without that car in the lot.

- It's unfair competition Dan. The other guys have corporate sponsors. Mad Sails needs to step up with sponsored transportation. IMHO
- Demasted and lost his paddle.
- Hope he has tow boat insurance
