Minnetonka and Upper Minnetonka Complete Scheduled Races Monday

A sense of civility - weather behaved, races checked off, parties without a hitch. The wind promises to be lighter tomorrow and the temperature a most welcome cooler. RC reminded folks to hydrate today which tells you of the conditions. Tomorrow's winds promise to be lighter but the temperature is moderating --- thank goodness. The A's began at 11:00 and finished by 2:00. T Freytag and Tom Burton won the races. Finishes were so tight in the first race. ---- inches-----. Sailors waited to hear how the boat numbers were called. A little turn of the tiller, a little wisp of new air and one boat nosed out another. These are truly majestic boats and the places can change in one tack or one shift. Photos are by the signal driver Declan Doperalski.

T Freytag took Race #3 with a lot of Freytags working hard but with local Tim Krech on mainsheet

The Minnetonka spectators erupted as Tom Burton/Jud Dayton took the gun at Race #4.

It was a PINK Day honoring those who have or are fighting cancer. The RC brightened the water with some color.

But not to be left out of the fun. . .

Pewaukee knows how to poke fun at itself with a new bright sail number in pink outlining the black number. Sailing Rogue, the V-44 is stylin'.

MC - Upper Minnetonka

What a place!

For a busy downtown location, this is quite a solution. Here's the description from their website: "Steeped in history the marina is found on Enchanted Island in a protected cove maintained in scenic surroundings with a natural feel. The peaceful park-like setting provides you with easy access to every bay in the upper lake and for those without masts, access to all parts of the lower lake." From the visitor's view, the site is a nicely appointed office building from the street side but then you walk to the east side and the vista opens onto a magnificent panorama of beautiful water. The physical club is located from a walkout level onto decking overlooking the west side or "upper" end of Minnetonka. Many of us recall when the Jewetts were young Cub sailors from Upper Minnetonka. Now it boasts a most healthy MC fleet who travels extensively. What a find for those of us visiting for the first time. The most obvious impression is the eagerness of the volunteers and the pride from the club, in general, to showcase their "gem" with this regatta.

Racing - three good races which resulted in three different winners. Peter Strothman (from Geneva but learned to sail on Minnetonka) leads with an impressive 3-2-1. Photos by Steve Bernstein

Peter Strothman with son Bo (a fierce little competitor in his own right in an Opti). The Strothmans won the third race of the day.

Thomas Nordlie, Upper Minnetonka sailor, took the first race win

Who Knew You Could Do This?

Somethings Never Change or Change is Never Good?

Neither applies to a situation up here in the Twin Cities. What we all know as Lake Calhoun is no longer.

From the Jan 19, 2018 Star Tribune:

It's official, at least in Minnesota: Lake Calhoun, the biggest lake in Minneapolis, will now go by its original Dakota name, Bde Maka Ska.

Tom Landwehr, commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources, announced the DNR's approval of the new name Thursday. Whether or not the U.S. Board of Geographic Names now chooses to keep Lake Calhoun on federal documents, he said, the state will recognize the Indian name for the lake.

The DNR's decision follows resolutions approving Bde Maka Ska - pronounced beh-DAY mah-KAH skah, meaning White Earth Lake - that were passed by the Hennepin County Board and the Minneapolis Park and Recreation Board.

The lake has been called Calhoun for nearly 200 years, ever since federal surveyors for U.S. Secretary of War John Calhoun arrived in the 1820s to prepare for Fort Snelling's construction at the junction of the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers.

They named the lake for Calhoun, an outspoken supporter of slavery who went on to become vice president (under John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson) and a U.S. senator from South Carolina.

So look for a new lake designator and guess the possibilities.
