attending the AM sessions to provide lunch. Register online starting next week by October 20th or contact dberg@ilya.org.

1:00 -5:00 Scuttlebutt has already alerted the nation to our afternoon session on the Return to Corinthian Sailing. A panel discussion with youth, adult, RC and coach representation will open the discourse. Your audience input is essential. The panel will help identify the problem with examples, you will determine the need for action and create an action plan to get us all back on our game. A concerted effort will be made to solidify our expectations and implementation of procedures to assure the most sportsmanlike behavior for ALL OUR FLEETS. In many ways, this begins at home and in our sailing schools. Clubs, please designate someone or several from your club to participate in this discussion. Together we can determine a path to assure we maintain our high expectation of Corinthian sailing on the waters of Inland lakes.

Polar Bear C and MC Regatta

by Dave Staub

This year's Polar Bear Regatta on the Mississippi River took place on Saturday September 30 and Sunday October 1 in beautiful weather conditions. On day one, the wind was light/medium and from the east, which is the best direction, in the opinion of this author. The river flows from the east through the Quad Cities, which makes for very long and challenging beats when the wind is also from the east. In fact the final race on Saturday included the longest weather legs ever sailed in my experience on this body of water.

On day two, the wind was mostly from the south, and stronger. We sailed the "bowtie" course also known as the "figure 8". This course includes four bouys and two separate beats. The two bouys on the right side of the course are rounded to port and the two bouys on the left of the course are rounded to starboard. By the middle of the second race on Sunday, the wind had picked up to allow substantial planing broad reaches. These reaches were often the point that the MC-fleet and the C-fleet would cross each other, which required some anticipation! The raffle on Saturday night, the tremendous food catered by Zeke's Island Café and the Fry Daddie's band were great, as always.
