NNN Beulah C Challenge

Porter/Welscher have homelake advantage

A perfect regatta - in the eyes of some. Hot, no wind day on Saturday so no racing but then it was fun all day. Friends winding down for the year with free beer, a lake to swim in, air-conditioned building. Someone made them lunch and dinner even though they did not sail. Quite a nice day actually. But then PRO Larry Krause got wind on Sunday. He ran three of the most beautiful short races on Sunday morning to meet the deadline. It was a most unusual direction for Beulah but he handled it magnificently. In the end, the racing was tight. A point between the top three leaders and two brothers battling it out in the crowd. Eight youth sailors brought boats and sailed for free. Thanks to NCSSA and a Beulah donor for the free opportunity.

Scowlines Welcomes New Sponsor

Toad Hollow

While the editor was viewing material for this edition, the trophies above caught her eye. While the photo is not good quality, the trophies are outstanding. The E's in action photo is set in acrylic as well as the E class logo. Both designs are magnificent which provided Scowlines with an opportunity to share ideas with you for your 2018 season.

Toad Hollow is a name you all know but do you think of Todd Haines for your awards presentations? Or for your business? These trophies are limited only by your creativity for your home lake. Todd creates softgoods for the Cedar Icebreaker. The RC has handsome jackets from our service there. History of Calhoun Yacht Club

Digital Edition

New contribution to Minnesota Reflections:

Calhoun Yacht Club

News by Greta Bahnemann published in Minnesota Digital Library:

Minnesota Reflections announces that the illustrated history of Calhoun Yacht Club (CYC), a yacht club first formally organized in 1901, is now available online for general review and historical research. This project is made available by the Minnesota Digital Library, a service of Minitex, funded with a grant by the Minnesota Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund of the Minnesota Clean Water, Land and Legacy Amendment to the Minnesota Constitution via the Minnesota Historical Society.

The CYC history project has been made available also with special thanks for encouragement and support supplied by the devoted working staff at Minnesota Reflections. Gary Reiter, Kathy Drozd, Bruce Reiter, Steve Woldum and Tom Weigel have worked together over the last three years to compile and create this permanent, online record of the history of Calhoun Yacht Club. This history has been compiled and documented primarily through the efforts of Gary Reiter and Kathy Drozd, with Kathy writing needed metadata documentation for each illustration. Historical photographs depicting the very early days of CYC have been generously supplied through the Reiter Family Archives. Many thanks also go to members of Calhoun Yacht Club, former family members of CYC, and the extremely supportive and enthusiastic members and friends of CYC from yacht clubs in and around the Twin Cities.

We hope you enjoy what we believe to be the only, or one of a very few, yacht club's history to be placed online and made generally and permanently available.

The following link pasted into your web browser will bring you directly to the opening page of the Calhoun Yacht Club history:
