Cool summer weather after storms with flooding in SE WI led to a chilly but steady 8-10MPH day on Lake Beulah. Forty-four sailors competed from MN, IA, IL and WI; youth to Mega Master. At the end of the day the new Melges MC (sure it had nothing to do with the skipper) led the leaderboard. Andy Burdick sits on top. Ryan Grosch and Dan Quiram had a marvelous day. The youngster Grosch sails the boat like a collegian although he is a few years past college; Quiram is just a steady master at the helm.

Andy Burdick leads the way

The event had a couple on injured reserve - Vicki Clayton of Beulah (and sailing at the top of its fleet) fell serving as an instructor at the ILYA Women's and Girls' Clinic breaking her wrist. Jeff deTarnowsky had a tennis injury and is limping looking at his sailboat.

Youngest - Gabe DiBiase with Annie Berg

Oldest? - Tim Fredman still wows the fleet with great finishes

ILYA Women's and Girls' Clinic

SAIL STRONG SAIL PINK

ILYA CLINIC FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS

Thanks to Cedar, WI for hosting a lot of pink on both the sailors, event helpers and boat help. Lesa Gutenkunst begins each day with fitness, Steph Roble and Maggie Shea skyped in early in the morning, Sally Barkow spoke at the banquet. For the X fleet, instructor to student ratio makes this nearly a private lesson. For the adults, 1:1 on the boats is confidence-building. Race Committee instructor Lynn Barkow is teaching all aspects of the course. ---- Thanks, Cedar.

Bowers Update

Hey There,

I'm currently in the middle of our first Worlds training camp in Long Beach with Coach Chris Dold, Chris Barnard, and several other sailors, including 2 time Olympian Bruno Fontes from Brazil. I'll return to the camp later in the flash.

In early May, after returning from Sailing World Cup Hyeres, I got on a rowing erg program for better cardio and recovery. Now 7 weeks into the program, it's clearly helping as I've got clearer thinking and better skill execution while going hard on the water. Nice.

May also marked the first training that I've done with the new carbon top section. It has more uniform bend overall and less side bend than the aluminum top, making for a narrower groove in hiking breeze. Small adjustments to the sail controls seem to have a bigger impact than before. The feel of the section will require more getting used to.

After some training in late May and early June, the schedule had a blank spot for a couple weeks. I went back home to the Midwest Coast as I've taken to calling Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Iowa. My time included some coaching at Lake Okoboji in Iowa as well as some good old Minnetonka E Scow racing with my father and all star crew mates Mike Woldum and Maclean Potts. We've made a few positive changes to our game that we are excited to put into play at the annual ILYA Championship in August.

There is also no place like Lake Minnetonka on the 4th of July. E Scow club race in the morning, followed by getting together with friends and family, and finally fireworks at the end of the evening. This year was extra spectacular as there was a lightning display from a slow moving thunderstorm to the west during the fireworks show. Simply incredible and great ending to my time at home.

July 5th, alarm goes off at 4am. Time to catch the early Spirit Flight to LA. Back to serious training in Long Beach. This two week July camp is the first one in our preparation for the 2017 Worlds in Split, Croatia this September. The morning of Day 1 consisted of fitness testing, including a 2k row test on the rowing ergometer. Managed a time of 6:56, just beating my goal time of 7:00 flat. Decent time and definitely one that I can improve upon. After 6 days of training, we've had 3 breezy days, 1 medium day, and 2 light air days. Coach Dold makes every day demanding though with 3.5-4 hour sessions. Even when the wind is light, he has drills such as "maximum number of tacks in 1 minute" to see how our skills hold up under physical duress. With full effort tacking, the heart rate gets jacked to 180 by the end of 1 minute. Other areas of emphasis have included starting work, upwind speed, downwind speed, and buoy roundings. I'm excited for the remaining 10 days of the camp. Looking to continue to make the small improvements that add up to a big difference.

Don't forget to check out the social media pages. Some new content will be up very soon on the Bowers

Sailing Youtube and Instagram pages.

The Bowers Sailing website is up and live now! Includes campaign updates, photos, videos, and more!

Lastly, I want to let you all know about the August 6th Bowers Sailing fundraiser at Cast & Cru/Old Log theater in Excelsior, MN.
