'Boji Day 2 - Repeat

Just how we all remember Okoboji - Arnold's Park in the distance.

Get up for early start. Weather predictions are hopeful. Arrive at the club for Spudnuts (yep, donuts made from potatoes). PRO Prange optimistically outlines the day. He gives us an hour to enjoy those Spudnuts. Out on the water and we decide to watch race committee practice. They are getting good at putting orange balls here, there, everywhere. Oops, here is the PRO again - relaxed, congenial. Let's all go have lunch. RC has its lessons in for the morning. Lunch is another bar - first potato and then pasta. So many veggies and salad fixins' that everyone is happy. THEN --- we get down to business.

Okoboji has proven to be a shifty, tricky venue. Winds are up, down and the skies are sunny, overcast, ominous and then stormy. But two races on Saturday have produced a new leader. The old master Reilly is atop the leaderboard. Peter Keck and Reilly are never out of the top ten. Wouldn't you know -- Kent and son Will are neck and neck.

And just to prove the master can fall a little out of grace, Andy and Mya Burdick honestly have a 23rd finish. So that shows all the rest of us how very tricky Okoboji can be.

Joe Skotartzak and Anne Muller finally put it together for Race 4 win

All in all, this venue is amazingly beautiful. There has always been something about the physical property here that lures us again and again. The waterfront makes this the best social event whether waiting in anticipation of the day's racing or recovering from a hard day on the water.

Thanks to Okoboji for the free beer throughout the event and Steve Avery for the wonderful party on Friday night.
