Letter from the Commodore

Fellow sailors and friends of the ILYA, it is hard to believe but we are halfway through our sailing season (at least on soft water). Other than the M-17s, I-20s and 420s we have all our other fleet championships right before us. I would remind you to register for as many fleets as your body or pocketbook can handle and to do it sooner than later to help the host lake plan as well as making it easier on that pocketbook. I know we have some fun parties planned for the Champs at Geneva which has been helped by the generosity of many of our Sponsors.

There is also another reason to attend your fleet champs whether you have your boat or not. Besides the fun and camaraderie you'd miss out on, each fleet holds its fleet meeting in which you, the sailor, elect your fleet committee and appoint a chairperson to serve on the ILYA Board where your voice is heard as to what each of your fleets wishes are. From where you want to sail to how many races a day or wind limits, these are items that affect all of our decisions on attending a regatta and growing our fleets. I encourage all of you to not only attend these great events but to actively participate in your fleet.

Your involvement makes this a great organization. I hope to see all of you at as many regattas as I can. Best of luck and enjoy your time on and off the water.

Sincerely,
Steve Schmidt
ILYA Commodore

Sail Strong, Sail Pink - Southern version

Pink, Pink, Pink

Optis gaining confidence in big wind, X sailors showing their exceptional boat handling skills, 420s just learning, and adult women who had never been on boats, had little experience with RC work or just had questions --- all met on Big Cedar to don pink to sail.

The PROS were Maggie Shea and Sally Barkow of Team Magenta and Janel Zarkowsky of Georgetown coaching and Epic Racing Team. These heavy hitters had instant admirers and loads of fun. The adjustments necessary due to changing conditions makes this coaching most challenging. For instance, a Milwaukee sailor arrived to be shocked to find flat-bottomed scows. She spent the afternoon on Barkow's coach boat and declared, "never have I learned so much. I could see the immediate result of a simple coaching tip by Barkow." A mom arrived on day two to say she had never been on a boat; same thing on day one- a wife had never been on her husband's boat --- this is an opportunity to try new experiences not under the pressure of a racing situation. A Green Fleeter in Optis was overwhelmed by the big wind. She ended up sailing as a crew on a 420 with Maggie Shea. The little sailor lives in Hong Kong and Maggie will be there in September. A match made immediately from one little clinic that is so special.

Here is the lineup for the second day regatta. Coaches seed the sailors. A team is comprised of an Opti, X, MC and C. The total score is cumulative from all the members of a team. And the winners are. . . .

Cedar, Beulah and Oshkosh - moms together while daughters sail in youth fleets

Both mornings began with exercise by Lesa Gutenkunst who returned for her third year to assist with this clinic.

TRAC - Opti Training Regatta

Brother - Sister Win Both Divisions

Cedar hosted a Friday Opti regatta after two days of the Women's clinic. Both Green fleet and RWB competed with coaching throughout the fleets. The editor was fortunate to be on the Green fleet to see wonderful examples of our next set of champions:

- Penalty circles performed immediately - congrats, sailors
- A downwind Pewaukee sailor cheering the upwind winner - great sportsmanship
- In a tight race to the finish, the leader Alex Mueller turning to second place sailor John Lieber and coaching him to help him on the last leg - WOW!
- A wonderful first year sailor who had not yet sat on the rail, gained confidence to sit on the side rather than sitting on the floor of the boat for the entire last race - now that's progress
- Coaches encouraging their team at lunch to sit with another lake's sailors - sailors meeting friends they will have for life

- Owen Bailey-Waltz meeting us at the pier to promptly deliver scores - an X sailor working for his Opti friends
- More Green fleet legacy sailors than can be gathered in a room - Lieber, Kaiser, Krause, Harken, Goggins, Zeigler, Gehl, Trester, Walsh ---- it was a Who's Who in Inland Sailing
- The sheer innocence and joy of these sailors meeting each other and helping each other was so invigorating for all the spectators. They are special children indeed.

It took patience from the RC to get both days of racing started due to wildly shifting winds. A called-back race, light air racing once and heavy "hurray for the big guys" racing for three of the races. Some declare this to be the toughest event of the season since we finally get to see the western lakes and the eastern lakes together. Juniors and seniors together. It's great competition throughout.

Best aspect of the event was the "rigged" coaches volleyball game. It was laughter all around but Geneva "stole" the championship from the likes of TAAALLLL Barr boys.

The real Champs were Beulah donning Rio shirts to mark Annie Haeger's next venture.

A nice touch this year was the sportsmanship award (ice cream all around) to the Pewaukee team for its conduct on the volleyball court. Guess it REALLY is about volleyball.
