Week one of the Rice Series is in the books. The first race had winds, if you could call it wind of 3-4. Misha shortened the course by half to get a second race in and the winds dropped by half as well.

Hopdfully next week will give us better wind.

Maggie Lock suggested that maybe we make a theme of some type of crazy clothing for next week.

See you next Wednesday night. Again, the start time is the harbor at 5:30 and the first race at 6:00.

Week two of the Rice Series had very little wind and even less participation. As you can see in the scoring that there were only 3 boats. Several others of us decided not to paddle out and back in the light wind.

Week 5 finally gave us some air. A nice south southwest breeze at nearly a constant 6 mph gave 6 boats three races. We also had a daysailor that followed the fleet through two of the races then retired before we could get their names.

We have two more Wednesdays before we have to pack up our lights for the season, so come and join us.
